

After a weekend of colorful fireworks and celebrations, I came to the realization that nature offers us this incredible show almost weekly! Late on the afternoon of the 4th we were blessed with a Lighting Pre-show. Being in Florida, we have just entered the time of daily Thunder Boomers as I call them. About 3:00 in the afternoon the excitement starts with blackish gray clouds rolling in over the water. The rain begins to trickle and then the bottom falls out and my garden, trees and flowers start to sing and dance! They love it! A few minutes later, the sun appears again and shines upon the puddles offering yet another twinkle show!

Tomorrow is a Full Moon. Now this is so spectacular! Lighting up the night sky is so beautiful and amazing. Do you remember this little saying:

I see the moon

The moon sees Me

God bless the Moon and God bless Me!

I hope you will give yourself a little free time and go out during the full moon tomorrow night and enjoy Nature's Light Show. Pop some popcorn and take it all in. The BEST part...it is free and there for the whole world to view.

Feel free to share your favorite Nature Light Show!
