

For my fellow composting friends, I wanted to share my less than scientific test which proves recycling the earth is a good thing.

About 8 months ago, I purchased a round plastic composter. It sits on a plastic base which collects all the liquid from the round bin. When the base is full, you can unscrew the top and wahla...you have rocket fuel! I just poured this magic on some beautiful but young firebushes and a week later, I am amazed. My less than scientific test was I used a popular brand of growing substance to another area...not as impressive as my home made goodness. Being from Tennessee originally, this made me feel like I had create a very elite moonshine....haha!

Composting is very enjoyable and I thank my lovely 95 year old Grandmother for teaching me this tricks when I was very young. She never wastes a thing! She always has beautiful flowers. Re-using, Re-cycling is a must for our world. It makes me so happy to know that many of the artists for Doeville re-use and re-create with many pieces of their art. I can't wait for everyone to see our fab new product....I will give you a hint....it is called REPLENISH. It will be on our site very soon.

Happy Composting,

Kim Pezzeminti
